

Reykjavik European Teams 2015: Spend 36.5K: Fees 22K Entry fees Travel and Hotels 14.5K.
Donations 5.5K

Net spend: 31K

Baku Olympiad 2016: Spend 46K: Fees 32.5, Entry Fees Travel and Hotels 13.5. Sponsorship 12.5K
Net Spend 33.5K

Crete European Teams 2017 Spend 40K: Fees 24.5K, Entry Fees Travel and Hotels 15.5K. Sponsorship
8.5K (4K spent on other items)

Net spend 31.5K

Batumi Olympiad 2018: Spend 45K: 32K Fees, Entry fees Travel and Hotels 11K, Team Jackets 2K
Donations/Support 9.5K

Net Spend 35.5K

Standard size of delegation is 10 players, 2 captains and 1 trainer/head of delegation plus one externally based trainer.

Please note that the Crete numbers are spread over two financial years. Hence the reason for the 11k difference between the 40k above and the 29k shown in the management accounts C30.7(v) is that 11K of the expenditure was accrued for in financial year 2016/2017 after an underspend in the previous year. Also please note that in European Championships, accommodation is usually more expensive than Olympiads as under the regulations, teams have to pay all of their costs, although as the tournament is shorter, fees are lower. A recent FIDE edict compelled us to kit out the teams with jackets but this cost is in reality spread over many events.