

REGULATION NO. 4 STANDARDS OF CONDUCT FOR ECF OFFICIALS

Made by the Board of English Chess Federation (“ECF”) on 28th January 2022 pursuant to Article 86 of the Articles of Association of English Chess Federation

1. Introduction

This document sets out the standards of conduct expected of all ECF officials in conducting their roles. For the purposes of this document “ECF officials” or “officials” shall mean the directors, any person appointed by the board or by one or more directors, any person appointed directly or indirectly by any such person and any person appointed by Council.

This document is supplementary to the ECF Articles and Bye Laws and does not replace them.

It is impossible to cover every specific eventuality in this document, and officials should be aware of the spirit of the Standards as much as the individual wording of the clauses.

The ECF acknowledges with gratitude that the large majority of ECF officials offer their services on a voluntary basis and for no financial reward other than reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses.

2. Standards of Conduct

2.1 All officials of the ECF are representatives of the organisation and must ensure that their actions do not:

- cause gratuitous offence;
- injure the ECF, its officials or its events, directly or indirectly;
- bring the game of chess or the ECF into disrepute.

This includes, among other things, ensuring that the views, rights, values and dignity of others are treated with sensitivity and respect. As ambassadors for the game and for the ECF, officials must ensure that their actions reflect such personal qualities as honesty, empathy, responsibility and good sportsmanship.

2.2 All ECF officials shall comply with ECF bye laws and regulations.

2.3 All ECF officials must comply with the FIDE Code of Ethics (<http://www.fide.com/fide/handbook.html?id=9&view=category>) when undertaking activity regulated by such code.

2.4 Behaviour which is contrary to paragraphs 2.1 to 2.3 may be subject to disciplinary action by the ECF. This may include such measures as undergoing training (in appropriate cases), a written warning, a temporary suspension and, in the case of officials appointed by the Board, removal from post. Officials appointed by Council may only be suspended or removed by means of a motion passed by Council.

2.5 ECF officials must ensure that their actions are objective and that they declare any conflict of interest. Standards for communication are outlined in sections 3 and 4. A public register of interests in chess-related organisations, events and businesses is to be maintained to ensure that the highest standards of openness are seen to be observed.

2.6 When representing the ECF at an official event or function, officials must ensure that their actions do not directly or indirectly damage events or discourage sponsors, volunteers and other parties. Standards of dress appropriate to the occasion should be maintained, including compliance with any applicable dress code. Official events or functions are not to be used for the promotion of a non-chess related organisation, business or cause without the prior agreement of the ECF Board.

3. Standards of Written Communications and Use of Social Media

- 3.1 Care must be taken to ensure that communications, whether written or on social media, comply with the expected standards of behaviour set out in section 2 above.
- 3.2 ECF publications (including the ECF website and the newsletter) enjoy a wide readership, including juniors and potential sponsors. The importance of these publications to the ECF cannot be overstated: to a very large extent they are the public face of the ECF. Thus, publication of material which gratuitously injures the ECF directly or indirectly (including its reputation) in these media may be subject to disciplinary action.
- 3.3 Editors and moderators have a responsibility to ensure that the following guidelines are publicised to authors and also, where it is reasonably possible, to ensure that material which breaches these guidelines is not published.
  - 3.3.1 The use of any profane, vulgar, offensive, racist, sexist or demeaning language is prohibited, as are all forms of harassment and/or personal insults.
  - 3.3.2 ECF publications are not to be used as a forum for polemics on non-chess related subjects.
  - 3.3.3 ECF publications are not to be used for attacking or criticising individuals: any disputes between individuals must be resolved by direct private communication between the parties, failing which the ECF complaints procedure should be followed if appropriate.
- 3.4 ECF officials shall preferentially communicate on the ECF website (e.g. news of ECF events should be published on an ECF site before other sites).

4. Breaches of Code of Conduct

- 4.1 The Board shall take appropriate action against any breaches of this code.
